curring outside territorial waters.
Russia has not been advised that Japan has lodged a protest in Paris. The charges of Russian violation of neutrality, coupled with the revival of the story that Russia intends to send her Black Sea fleet through the Dardanelles, and the report that the British Mediterranean fleet has been sent to the Aegean Sea to head off the Russian fleet, cause excitement and irritation.

The Associated Press is again authorized to state that Russia has no intention of sending out the Black Sea fleet.
The admiralty officials are quite elated over the receipt of news showing that not a single collier dispatched to the China Sea through the Straits of Sunda for the purpose of throwing the Japanese off the seent, when Admiral Rojestvensky passed ihrough the Straits of Malacca, fell into the hands of the Japanese. Rojestvensky reached the Straits of Malacca, fell into the hands of the Japanese. Hopestvensky reached the Straits of Malacca, for the colliers arrived at the Straits of Sunda for the quarry and the decoys.

The admiralty is silent as to whether Rojestvensky has left Kamranh Bay.

Commenting on the Governor's charge, Senator Martin last night dictated the following statement:
"As reliable a statement of that master as can be found is the report of Hon. John G. Dew, second auditor or the State, addressed to the Governor, and and the October 1, 1904, being the annual report for the fiscal year, ended September 30, 1904. In that report Judge Dew made the following statement:
"In my last annual report I referred to the auspicous fact that a settlement of the long standing counter claims between Virginia and the United States, and involving more than twi millon dollars, was rendered susceptible by an act of Congress authorizing the adjustment of such claims. I now make the gratifying announcement that this account has been settled finally, and in a manner which not only protects Virginia's interest as it then appeared, but has also removed the last possibility of any tuture litigation on the subject, which might affect and disturb most seriously the present satisfactory condition of our public debt, and the welfare of the State in other respects as well.

"The settlement included in its terms not only, the surrender by the United States Government of the entire amount of Virginia bonds which it held, amounting to $594,000, and its claim for past die interest at 8 per cent, from January I, 1861, aggregating more than $2,000,000, the hominal balance of five dollars and fifty cents, which was established in the settlement to be due to Virginia." TAKING BRIBE RESIGNS

Sensation May Follow Action of Court on Recommendation of Referee Coxe.

ATTACK STOCK EXCHANGE

If Cotton Exchange Transactions Are Proved to be Gambling Sully Will Owe Nothing.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 20.—Magrane Coxe, referee in bankruptcy in the Daniel J. Sully case, to-day sent to Judge Holt, of the United States District Court, an apinion which, if approved by the court, will reopen the Sully case entirely, and bring up for adjudication several important and almost sensational points. The opinion is given upon the application of two sets of petitions, one from Edwin Hawley and Frank H. Ray, who have been such by Sully's trustee in bankruptcy for certain sums alleged to have been lost through participation with Sully in alleged cotton pools and the other from creditors who are not members of the Cotton Exchange.

Three questions were brought up; First, Whother $1,000,000 paid on Saturday, March 18, 1904, was a preference and so illegal?

Second. Whether the Friday's prices or Saturday's prices should determine the Second. Whether the Final or Saturday's prices should determine the amount the Sully estate owes? I then the Whether transactions on the same of the s Cotton Exchange are gambling transac tions?

The opinion of the referee is that the case should be reopened. If Judge Holt decides in his favor this will reopen the whole question and if the claims are decided it will make an immense difference in the amounts due. If it is proved that Cotton Exchange transactions are gambling transactions, Sully is solvent and will not owe a cent.

What Referee Says.

Referee Coxe, in his report, said:
"I think that the petitioners have a direct pecuniary interest in showing if they can, that, upon a proper determination on the law and the facts, there would be on the law and the facts, there would be sufficient assets in the estate to preclude any right to recovery against them, and that this is the only proceeding in which such a determination can be had, and that they must, therefore, be held to be parties in interest within the meaning of the bankruptcy act.

"Large sums of money, it is alleged, were paid by the bankrupts by way of margins within four months, and within a very few days of the bankruptcy, and it is not unreasonable that creditors who have not received such sums should desire to examine to the facts with a view to ascertaining whether such payments sire to examine to the facts with a view to ascertaining whether such payments have not been such as are known as preferential payments under the bankruptcy act. It does not seem to me inequitable to permit a judicial investigation into this matter."

The referce then quoted the rule of the New York Stock Exchange, which provides that when a member apnounces his inability to meet his obligations his contracts shall be settled at the average quotations for like contracts on that day; contracts shall be settled at the average quotations for like contracts on that day; unless the notice of the failure is given within an hour of the time of the closing of the exchange, in which case the average quotation for contracts on that day, unless the notice of the failure is given within an hour of the time of the closing of the exchange, which ease the average quotation for contracts on that day shall be the basis of settlement. The referee says the trustee in bankruptcy and opposing creditors aver that the Sully case of suspension was given after 2 P. M., while the petitioners, on the other hand, claim the notice was sent to the superintendent of the exchange by 2 P. M. Referee Coxe adds:

Attack Legality of Rule.

Attack Legality of Rule.

"The petitioners ask to be permitted to attack the legality of the rule, and also to show that, even under the rule, the average price at which these cotton contracts should be settled should really be its average price of Friday. The average price of Saturday was very much lower than the average price of Friday. The bankrupts had on hand a large amount of cotton against the contracts. If, therefore, they were to liquidate these contracts at the higher price for the cotton of March 18th, it would follow that there of March 18th, it would follow that there would be much less money owing by them, if anything, than would be owing by them if the settlements were made on the average price of Saturday, March 19th. It is manifest that under this rule a tremendous power is given to the superintendent of the exchange. It seems to me that such a rule, fraught with such important consequence to so many people, if it is to be maintained at all, should be maintained upon a strict compliance with its terms; and that petitioners here have an equitable right to be heard to show if they can, that it has not been compliance their property rights have been detrimentally affected.

"Counsel for the trustee argued that the only statements in the patition which touch upon the illegality of the exchange claims, and the question of wagering, are made on information and belief, and, therefore, should not be considered. For the reasons stated I am forced to the conclusion that the petitioners here are entitled to the relief they ask."
